Detroit Jazz Fest

Ahmad Jamal Headlines 2006 Detroit Jazz Fest

This year's Detroit Jazz Fest brings a plethora of well-known jazz, blues, and funk artists to Hart Plaza and lower Woodward Avenue up to Campus Martius over Labor Day weekend, September 1–4. The wonderful thing is that it is all free of charge, thanks largely to the sponsors, Mack Avenue Records of Grosse Pointe. A complete schedule can be found inside this newsletter.

The top mainstream jazz acts are pianist Ahmad Jamal, altoist Lou Donaldson with organist Dr. Lonnie Smith, the Clayton Brothers Quintet, pianist and singer Mose Allison, singer Diane Schuur, and several top-notch former Detroiters who made it big on several continents. Arranger and bandleader Gerald Wilson returns to his hometown for what promises to be another inspired performance with his big band; pianist Kirk Lightsey with his Detroit Four + One features saxophonist Benny Maupin, trombonist George Bohannon, bassist Cecil McBee, and drummer Bert Myrick; and the Detroit Jazz All Stars include pianist Barry Harris, his former student and altoist Charles McPherson, trombonist Curtis Fuller, trumpeter Marcus Belgrave, bassist Rodney Whitaker, and drummer Louis Hayes. There will also be two tributes to recently deceased Detroiters: pianist Tommy Flanagan and vibraphonist Milt Jackson. The Flanagan tribute is led by his former drummer Lewis Nash and includes his former bassist Peter Washington. The quartet is rounded out by the exciting pianist Renee Rosnes and unique vibraphonist Steve Nelson. The memory of Milt Jackson is celebrated by fellow vibes player Joe Locke and his quartet with veterans bassist Bob Cranshaw and drummer Mickey Roker. An expanded Jazz Talk Tent will feature panel discussions about several Detroit related themes: panels on Milt Jackson, the Detroit piano tradition, the Detroit Invasion of New York City in the fifties, and presentations on Detroit jazz history.

Music On All Cylinders

Two more fusion-oriented acts should be a draw for younger audiences: the Jaco Pastorius Word of Mouth band, which celebrates the pioneering electric bassist, and the Ed Palermo big band which works with the music of Frank Zappa. Blues fans will be pleased to see James Cotton, Taj Mahal, and several local outfits along Woodward Avenue. Campus Martius will also feature more R & B oriented acts like the Funk Brothers, the Temps, and Joan Osborne.

This year the festival also presents a lot of music from New Orleans and Brazil. The Pyramid stage features New Orleans bands Saturday through Monday, most notably pianist and vocalist Marcia Ball and the excellent altoist Donald Harrison's Quintet. In addition, the two stages up Woodward Avenue feature N.O. acts like the Dirty Dozen Brass Band and Dr. John & the Lower 911 on Labor Day. Brazilian sounds reverberate on the Amphitheatre Stage on Saturday, with Sergio Mendes as the headliner.

The backbone of the festival is still the large number of local musicians who get a chance to play in front of larger audiences than they usually do. The festival is an excellent opportunity to hear musicians you have seen advertised in these pages over the years, but never had the chance to catch live. There is of course a lot more to enjoy at this festival: SEMJA Clinics with three jazz masters (see details inside), lots of food and refreshments, a wide cross-section of the jazz audience from near and far, and fantastic visuals: the downtown skyline, the Detroit River, Campus Martius and the architectural gems of lower Woodward. For Labor Day weekend fun you still cannot beat jazz in downtown Detroit!

Alice Coltrane to Ann Arbor

Pianist Alice Coltrane will open up the University Musical Society's Jazz Series at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor on September 23 (8:00 p.m.). Her quartet will celebrate the 80th birthday of her late husband in a concert that should be one of the most highly anticipated this year. The formidable group includes her son Ravi on saxophones, Charlie Haden on bass, and Roy Haynes on drums. Ms. Coltrane was born in Detroit and was a major presence on the city's jazz scene in the late 50s until she went on the road with Terry Gibbs in 1962–63. It was on this tour that she met her future husband, John, and they were married in 1965. She was a member of his group for about a year until his untimely death in 1967. In 1972 she relocated to Los Angeles and by the end of the decade had opened an ashram and eventually became less active in music. In 2004, Coltrane made her first recording in 26 years, Translinear Light (on Impulse), which features both her sons and Haynes.

UMS will feature a number another top jazz act this fall. Pianists Marian McPartland and Bill Charlap will come to Hill on October 7, when they will perform as a duo after Charlap has warmed up with his trio. The winter features: the Big 3 Palladium Orchestra celebrating Machito, Rodriguez, and Puente on February 1; bassist Dave Holland's Octet and Big Band on February 22; Wynton Marsalis and the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra on March 15; and Pablo Ziegler's New Tango Quintet with Claudia Acuna on March 20. Please call 734-764-2538 for ticket information.

2006–07 DSO Series

The DSO Jazz Series at Orchestra Hall in Detroit includes a number of interesting acts this season. It kicks off with pianist Ellis Marsalis (Wynton's father) in a New Orleans tribute on October 20. Pianist Ramsey Lewis (November 9) and drummer T.S. Monk with Rachel Price (December 7) will finish autumn.

The winter presents: Jane Monheit (January 25), David Sanborn (February 9), Pat Metheny with Brad Mehldau Trio (April 7), Village Vanguard Orchestra (April 20), and Branford Marsalis (May 17). Please call 313-576-5111 for tickets or go to www.detroitsymphony.com

Avant Garde and Boogie at Kerrytown

New York guitarist Stew Cutler will play the Kerrytown Concert House in Ann Arbor on August 25 at 8:00 p.m. His trio includes bassist Gene Torres and drummer Garry Bruer. They have made two CDs, Trio Music (Fountainbleau Records) and Insignia (Naim Records), where they blend R & B with the avant-garde. Cutler's familiarity with R & B comes from playing with Percy Sledge, Eddie Floyd, Wilson Pickett and others. He has recorded with David Sanborn, Bobby Previte, Charlie Hunter, Bill Frisell, and others.

On August 31, KCH is visited by the Respect Sextet which is based in Rochester, NY. The group was formed in 2001 and it performs a variety of improvisational music, drawing comparisons to that of the AACM in Chicago and New Dutch Swing. The group includes Josh Rutner on reeds, Eli Asher on trumpet, James Hirschfeld on trombone, Malcolm Kirby on bass, Ted Poor on drums and Red Wierenga on piano and accordion.

The Concert House will feature a more traditional music a month later, when boogie woogie pianist Matthew Ball performs on September 28 at 8:00 p.m. Ball is a young pianist who gave up a promising classical music career five years ago after attending the Motor City boogie-woogie festival. He is one of Bob Seeley's students and played the Cincinnati Blues Fest last year.

The Concert House is located on 415 N. Fourth Avenue in the Kerrytown Market area. Please call 734-769-2999 for tickets.

Jazz At Chautauqua

Chautauqua (New York), the well-known educational institution, will have its ninth annual jazz festival September 28 through October 1. The program is organized by the Allegheny Jazz Society and will be held at the "Grand Dame" Athenaeum Hotel. Tickets are available for single events as well as the whole weekend. Performers include some of the best in traditional and swing jazz: Dan Barrett, Joe Wilder, Scott Robinson, Howard Alden, Johnny Frigo, Jim Dapogny, Vince Giordano, Rebecca Kilgore, and many others. Please call 814-724-2163 for music ticket information and 800-821-1881 for hotel information.

Linda Yohn Receives Award

WEMU Music Director Linda Yohn received the 2006 Duke Dubois Humanitarian Award at the fifth annual JazzWeek Summit in Rochester, NY, on June 17. The award, in recognition of Yohn's passionate advocacy of jazz and jazz radio, is named for the late jazz radio promoter Duke Dubois, who was a pioneer in the field and a mentor and friend to so many in the jazz radio and record business. JazzWeek is a weekly publication covering the jazz and smooth jazz industry.

Yohn is a well-known voice on WEMU (89.1 FM) where she usually handles the morning show until noon. She has been at WEMU since 1987 and started doing jazz radio in the late 1970s. Her contributions to jazz radio were also recognized when she received the Excellence in Jazz Broadcasting/ the Willis Conover-Marian McPartland Award from the Jazz Journalists Association in 2005. Yohn is also a valued member of the SEMJA Board. We are proud to have someone of her caliber on our board.

Edgefest Number 10

Edgefest, Ann Arbor's contribution to the avant garde, will this year present its tenth festival October 11–14.

The festival can look back on a decade of steady improvement in musical quality and audiences. It has presented a healthy blend of New York, Chicago, Detroit, Canadian, and European talent at the Kerrytown Concert House and the Firefly Club.

This year's lineup includes the following major acts:

- saxophonist Tim Berne's Paraphrase
- altoist Oliver Lake and Mary Redhouse
- pianist Myra Melford's Trio M
- bassist Drew Gress' 7 Black Butterflies
- Chicago's 8 Bold Souls
- Polish trumpeter Tomasz Stanko and his Quartet
- Swedish accordionist Lars Hollmer's Global Home Project
- Montreal's Trio Derome/Guilbeault/ Tanguay
- Downtown saxophonist Matt Darriau's Paradox Trio

Please call 734-769-2999 for tickets or go to www.kerrytownconcerthouse.com

Rebecca Kilgore To Firefly

The much acclaimed vocalist Rebecca Kilgore will sing with her own group at the Firefly Club in Ann Arbor on September 23. Kilgore specializes in the music of the 1930s and 40s and can be found on 32 recordings to date. Among her most acclaimed collaborations were those with pianist and songwriter Dave Frishberg. She has also recorded frequently with John Sheridan's Dream Band on Arbors Records.

Another vocalist who will appear at the Firefly is Ilona Knopfler, who is in the area for the Detroit Jazz Fest. She performs on September 2.

An official warm-up to the Detroit Jazz Fest is presented by Heineken with the appearance of Detroit's own Straight Ahead on August 8. Straight Ahead includes bassist Marion Hayden, pianist Eileen Orr and drummer Gayelynn McKinney.

Drummer Sean Dobbins is by now a long-time member of many local groups, such as the Paul Keller Ensemble and Urban Transport (which he co-leads). He has now put out a CD with his own trio and will have a release party at the Firefly on August 5.

Also coming to the Firefly: Chicago guitarist Jeff Greene with his quartet on August 25; saxophonist Andrew Bishop presenting his Hank Williams Project on September 9; pianist Ellen Rowe with her trio on September 30; saxophonist Dave Liebman on October 10; and Jane Bunnett and the Spirits of Havana on November 4.

Young Musicians Invited to Play

SEMJA is sponsoring a program by Ron Brooks and Tad Weed to give young area musicians a chance to play jazz in public. The program is looking for interested high school and college age students who would like to perform at Frenchie's, 54 Cross Street, in Ypsilanti, on Sundays from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. This will allow students who are taking instrumental lessons from area jazz instructors to listen to other students and also to play with area professionals. Specifically, the trio of bassist Brooks, pianist Weed, and drummer Sean Dobbins would perform in the latter half of the program, the details of which are still being worked out. The program had some trial runs this summer and will start back up in September. Please contact Tad Weed at 734-276-2992 if you are interested.

Sarnia Jazz Festival

For the third year there will be a Jazz In the Village Festival in Sarnia, Ontario. It will take place on Saturday, September 16, in McGibbon Park, Lochiel Kiwanis Community Center, located on the corner of George and College Avenue. A number of bands play from noon until 11:00 p.m., including Johnny Bond and the Jazz Legends, Mardi Gras Dixieland Band, After Four and More, One Bald Tire, The Brenda Earle Trio, and The Jitterbugs. Performances take place under tents, so the show will go on, rain or shine. Please call 519-344-7777 or 877-769-3987 for further information.

Fall Concerts at the Jazz Forum

The Jazz Forum at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church has announced its fall concert series, held on Wednesday nights.

The first concert on October 4 is with the Steve Wood-Carl Cafagna Quintet. Saxophonists Wood and Cafagna will be joined by Scott Gwinell on piano, Don Mayberry on bass, and drummer Sean Dobbins.

On November 1, cornetist Tom Saunders and his All Stars will perform with special guest Jim Dapogny on the piano.

On December 6, Don Mayberry and Friends will be on stage. The friends are vocalist Shahida Nurullah, saxophonist Vincent York, guitarist Bob Tye, cellist Mike Karoub, pianist Sven Anderson, and drummer Jim Ryan.

All concerts start at 8:00 p.m. The Unitarian Church is located at 17150 Maumee in Grosse Pointe, which is at St. Clair, 2 blocks east of Cadieux, between Kercheval and Jefferson. Please call 313-961-1714 for more information.

Lansing JazzFest

Oldtown Lansing will be the site of the 12th Lansing JazzFest on Friday and Saturday, August 4–5. A number of bands are scheduled on three stages, starting at 5:00 p.m. on Friday and 2:00 p.m. on Saturday. The two headliners are Tim Cunningham (8:30 Friday) and Johnny O'Neal (8:15 Saturday). Cunningham is an R&B saxophonist hailing from Lansing, and O'Neal is a prominent Detroit born pianist and vocalist. O'Neal will also do a Q & A session at 5:45 on Saturday. Other noteworthy performers on Friday are the David Rosin trio (6:30) and on Saturday, pianist Jeff Haas (3:15), Bill Bastian Quartet (5), vocalist Marcia Allen (7), and Cuban inspired Tumbao Bravo at 10 p.m. The David Rosin trio will also do an introductory workshop on jazz at 4:45 on Saturday. The festival will be held on Turner Street at East Grand River and it is free of charge. Please call 517-371-4600 for more information or go to www.jazzlansing.com

Guelph Jazz Festival

Guelph, Ontario, has hosted a jazz festival with the best of the avant garde for a dozen years with growing attendance and critical success. This year's festival will take place September 6–10 and will feature concerts and workshops at six venues. Some of the artists appearing are Bill Dixon, Jerry Granelli, Sao Paulo Underground, Paul Plimley, Larry Ochs, Peggy Lee, FAB Trio (Billy Bang, Joe Fonda, Barry Altschul), Steve Coleman and Five Elements, Mark Feldman/Sylvie Courvoisier, and György Szabados/Vladimir Tarasov, plus the best from various Canadian provinces. For more information call 519-763-4952 or go to www.guelphjazzfestival.com

Detroit Jazz Fest

SEMJA Clinicians at Detroit Jazz Fest 2006

Marion Hayden (Saturday, 6:45 p.m.) is Detroit's bassist of choice for many visiting name jazz artists. She got her first gig with trumpeter Marcus Belgrave at age 14, but had started on the cello at 9 in the Detroit Public Schools. In 1989 she was one of the founders of Straight Ahead, which soon landed an Atlantic record contract. She has performed and recorded with many, including Kenny Burrell, Regina Carter, and Steve Turre. Hayden was educated at the University of Michigan and Michigan State University, and currently teaches in the jazz program at U-M. She writes for her own sextet when given the chance.

Steve Wood (Sunday, 6:45 p.m.) is a tenor saxophonist, bandleader, and educator who learned the ropes from Detroit masters like Earl Stuart, Marcus Belgrave (at his Jazz Development Workshop), Lamont Hamilton, and Doc Holliday (at Oakland University). In the 90s he had the privilege to study with tenor giant George Coleman with the help of a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. For many years he has given workshops in the Detroit and Toledo public schools with his quartet. He records for Corridor Records and his latest CD is Deep Woods, which features Phil Kelly, Paul Keller and Ron Jackson.

Russ Miller (Monday, 6:45 p.m.) is a saxophonist, flautist, clarinetist, composer, arranger, and educator who has been active in the metropolitan Detroit area for more than twenty-five years. He is currently a full-time faculty member of the Department of Music at Wayne State University teaching jazz arranging and orchestration, jazz improvisation, jazz ensembles, and woodwind methods. Miller has performed with national jazz artists J.C. Heard, Dizzy Gillespie, and Joe Williams, and locally with Jack Brokensha, Paul Keller, Johnny Trudell, Bill Heid, and Claude Black, to name a few. He also performs with his own quartet.

Snapshots from the 2006 Michigan Jazz Festival

The Michigan Jazz Fest at Schoolcraft College featured the best of local jazz, was very well attended, and was very well organized thanks to Midge Ellis and her army of volunteers. Here are some of the sights caught on camera.
